What is IELTS?

International English Language Testing System (IELTS) is the world's most widely accepted English language test. IELTS is accepted by more 10,000 academic institutions and by various professional organisations across the globe. The test is designed to test a candidate's command over the four necessary skills of the English Language- Reading, Writing, Speaking and Listening.

How many Variants of IELTS are there?

There are two different categories of the IELTS test:

- Academic: The IELTS Academic test is for people applying for higher education or professional registration in an English speaking environment. It reflects some of the features of academic language and assesses whether you are ready to begin studying or training. This test is necessary for most of the leading scientific institutions.
- General: The IELTS General Training test is for those who are going to English speaking countries for secondary education, work experience or training programs. It is also a requirement for migration to Australia, Canada, New Zealand and the UK. The test focuses on necessary survival skills in broad social and workplace contexts.

Why is IELTS Needed?

Most of the Universities and academic institutions require an IELTS score with varying grades before accepting an international student. Although the scores necessary range, they generally hover around 6-7 score band. Additionally, IELTS is required by most Commonwealth countries (Australia, United Kingdom, Canada majorly) as a proof proficiency in the English Language.

Which Countries Accept IELTS?

Every country has its IELTS requirements. However, the leading institutions, be it for academia or the best job opportunities, expect English language proficiency. The countries that have made this exam a prerequisite in their application process are USA, Australia, UK, Canada and Australia.

Benefits of Taking the IELTS

A good IELTS score significantly increases your odds of getting accepted into elite study programs at institutions of your choice. Most undergraduate programs require a minimum score of 6, and some can go as high as 8.5.
